When Style and Personality meet Automotive Design and Performance

Stuttgart, Germany. Porsche Design and Orlando Bloom have teamed up to create statement pieces that fuse the acclaimed actor's unique personal style with the automotive-inspired functional design the exclusive lifestyle brand is known for. "It's an honor and a challenge to co-create something that carries and truly lives up to the name 'Porsche.' For me, it's important not just to be the face of the collection, but to stay deeply involved in the ideation process. This creative journey is fun and a privilege, giving me new ways to express myself," says Bloom. The Orlando Bloom x Porsche Design collection comprises of a limited-edition hooded leather jacket and the sunglasses model P'86007 available in three color combinations.

A new perspective on performance – the Iconic Shield Design

The groundbreaking design of the P'86007 is a fresh interpretation of the shield style of the Iconic 911 Targa P'8954 launched in 2025. The Targa Series is a bold tribute to the unmistakable roll bar of the Porsche 911 Targa, transferring the principles of automotive protection into eyewear. It expands the design concept by introducing an innovative front construction protecting the lenses. The design merges heritage with contemporary sportiness, featuring super lightweight titanium frames that ensure maximum comfort and best protection. The titanium front completely encloses the lens shield. The forward extension that characterizes the model is celebrated through striking cut-outs. The P'86007 is available in three different colors: titanium/black with grey lenses, gold/olive green with brown lenses and
